Dear Students,

Wanted to address a few matters that I have received questions/concerns about recently. Please note that more information can be found on the Fall 2020 Semester page, and in this welcome back video.

Undergraduate Students in the Building
A limited number of undergraduate courses will take place in the Moot Courtroom and in room 301. These undergraduate students will be informed that they are permitted in the Law School to take classes only, and should not linger or gather in the building. Undergraduate students are required to wear masks and social distance in the same manner as law students, and will be subject to discipline should they not follow these rules. Please note that undergraduates will only use the Moot Courtroom and room 301 during the day and no law school class will be held in those rooms until the evening. Additionally, the rooms will be cleaned daily between undergraduate student use and law student use.

Positive COVID Test Notification Policies
If a law student who has been on-campus tests positive for COVID-19, close contacts of that student will be contacted by a contact tracer. Typically, merely sharing the same classroom while socially distanced and wearing a mask with an infected person does not constitute close contact. Our understanding of the current university policy is that we are not allowed to share any medical information without permission. That being said, we plan to ask any student who is infected for permission to share information with their classmates.

Eating/Drinking in the Building
Students are encouraged to eat outdoors. Inside the building, students may not remove their masks to eat or drink (but may place bites of food under a mask or use a straw).

Counseling Services
Hilary Delman from CAPS will provide remote counseling services to law students from noon to 4:00pm each Tuesday and Wednesday during the Fall 2020 semester. To set up an appointment with her, email her directly at hdelman@richmond.edu. Law students may also make an appointment through the main CAPS office. Additionally, all students who are enrolled in the university’s student health insurance plan have access to HeathiestYou, a behavioral telehealth service.

Sincerely,
